OUR DOCTORS ARE GROWING OLD

Norfolk Journal

The Afro-American people are only a little more than fifty years old in freedom and opportunity. All behind those years were years of slavery and denial of opportunity; with few homes and schools and churches of their own. Life was black and unforbidding to them. We had few professional men then, only here and there one in the largest communities. Now we have preachers and teachers and doctors and lawyers everywhere, making history for the race and reasonable money for themselves and consequent wealth for the race, without which a race is poor indeed. The transformation in half a century has been marvellous

And Guide 7-8-22

These observations are based upon the fact that the Old Dominion Medical Society held its tenth annual meeting, at Danville, recently. Year by year it has grown in membership and influence for good, and is today one of the most useful and helpful influences in the life of the race. Every community in the Nation where we are present in numbers has one or more Afro-American physicians, and everywhere they are rendering that devoted service to the community and their patients for which the medical profession is notable.

All honor and all hail to the members of the Old Dominion Medical Society.

FALLS CITY MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETING

Louisville Ky. Louisville Medico

Dr. P. M. Flack entertained the society last Tuesday night at his residence in W. Chestnut street.

The President called the meeting to order at 9 p. m., sharp. After prayer by Chaplin R. L. Oliver a full quota answered the roll call.

Before entering upon the regular business Messrs. Digman and Wilson, of Kansas City, were introduced by President J. A. Emerson. They brought some matters before the Association, which was of financial interest to the doctors. Next Attorney Calbert was presented to the society, who called attention to the fact that the State of Kentucky maintains institutions for its feeble minded children, and since the doctors, more than any one else know the status of the homes in the city, they should inform the parents or guardians of these institutions furnished by the State.

fine reports, especially the Research Committee, of which Dr. A. C. McIntyre is chairman. It brought to the society valuable information on radium treatment; explaining how tumors, etc., can be removed without the use of the knife. Dr. Reed, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, made a fine report of the Falls City's Matrimonial Entertainment, which will be given at the Pythian Temple on Friday night, Nove. 24, for the benefit of the Research Laboratory. This will be opening and biggest event of the season. Preparation is being made for six hundred guests.

Dr. Flack read a very interesting paper on Pus, which was discussed at length. 11-11-22

At 11 o'clock a light lunch was served by Madams Flack, Brady and assistants. The difference between the cost of the lunch and a full supper was $20, and Dr. Flack, following the precedence set by Dr. T. C. Brock, turned this amount over to the treasurer. After which Dr. Charles Sneed, with select phraseology returns thanks for the hospitality shown, and the meeting adjourned to meet next month at Dr. Hammond's.

FALL CITY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION HOLDS INTERESTING SESSION AT HOME OF DR. ADAMS.

Louisville News 4-18-22

The Fall City Medical Association met at the residence of Dr. W. S. Adams, 2916 W. Walnut Steet on Tuesday night of this week. Dr. J. A. Emerson, President, called the meeting to order at 9 o'clock sharp and Dr. Flack, in the absence of the Chaplain, offered up the most fervent prayer, invoking that scientific knowledge be poured into the Association so that the ills of humanity which are brought on by the violation of the laws of nature may be erradicated from the world.

A large number answered to the roll call and paid dues, after which the standing and special committees made fine reports, among which deserves special mention was from Dr. A. C. McIntyre, chairman of the research committee who gave valuable information on Goiter, obtained from the Mayo clinic.

An excellent report was made on the nucleus of the THOUSAND DOLLAR FUND for the establishment of a RESEARCH LABORATORY and X-RAY.

Dr. J. A. C. Lattomore delivered a very valuable message from Dr. Green, President of the National Medical Association, urging a strong local organization which will build up the State and State build up the National so that recognition can be secured from the Am. M. A. That will enable any physician who goes to another state on vacation to hang out his shingle while there. He contrasted the status of white and colored physicians in the U. S. and showed that out of eighty-five thousand white physicians in the United States, eighty thousand belonged to a medical society, and out of seven thousand colored physicians in the U. S. less than five hundred belonged to anything which furnished them scientific knowledge; and urged that each member of the Fall City either carry or send the national dues to Washington in August so that the colored man can get in the A. M. A.

At eleven o'clock the paper of the evening was called for and Dr. Crosby of Detroit, Michigan, who is a representative of the Sherman Research Laboratory read a highly instructive paper on the vaccines and dealt largely with cause and effect and immuization. He also went into a lengthy differenciation between the vaccines and the serums, not intending any reflection on the Fall City but that his travels over the country among the doctors had proven that a large percent did not know the difference. The paper was ably discussed by Drs. McIntyre, Silver, Lattimore, Beck, Pickett and Reid.

The hour having arrived for supper the fastidious Epicurians marched into the spacious, well appointed dining room where the table was laden with the season's edibles. Mrs. Adams was assisted by Miss Robinson, the Mrs. Lively, Snyder, and Evans.

Dr. Flack, in the most choice phraseology, extended thanks to the host, hostess and assistants for the unlimited hospitality shown the society.

Next meeting at Mr. Brock's.

DR. THOMAS A. FLETCHER, A RECENT GRADUATE OF PARIS AND LONDON UNIVERSITIES. KANSAS CITY'S ONLY SPECIALIST IN DISEASES OF THE EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT.

DR. T. A. FLETCHER SPECIALIST

To be Kansas Plaindealer

2/10/22

The colored people of Kansas City and the west are proud of the fact that they now boast of having the first and only eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, in the person of Dr. Thomas A. Fletcher, who recently graduated from the University of London, England, the Royal London Hospital, (Moorefield's Eye Hospital), and the Central London Throat Hospital and the University of Paris, France, the L'Hospital Laribosiere, (Ear, Nose and Throat) and the L'Hospital Dien, (Eye hospital).

After a general practice of medicine for several years, Dr. Fletcher saw the need of, and noted the demand for a specialist in this locality for the treatment of diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat. He at once gave up his practice and went to Chicago, for the purpose of taking the special curse. On appearing at the hospital in that city he was told that members of his race were not admitted. He found that he could not accomplish much by the segregation route, and in view of the fact that he wanted it all or none at all, to perfect his plans he immediately arranged for passport to England, and accompanied by his accomplished wife, sailed for England, his mother country where he had received his early training and where he was met with open arms and extended all the courtesies that any human being could wish. He did special work not only in the line of eye, ear, nose and throat, but gave considerable time to optometry, and became proficient in fitting eye glasses, one of the most important branches of this practice.

The Royal Hospital of London was established in 1804 and some of the finest specialists in the country are numbered among its graduaes. In the English and French institutions the standard of work is unusually high, the system almost perfect and the authorities are strict in their methods of teaching. No one is given a certificate of authority to go out in the world to practice unless they have throughly mastered the subject. They play no favorites, you must deliver the goods.

The doctor was placed in charge of classes and placed in positions of great responsibilities which showed his rare ability in the medical profession asd the work which he was pursuing. In France he was accorded the same treatment as in London.

Dr. Fletcher was accompanied by his wife which made the long trip and his work more pleasant, his little daughter was left with her grandparents, Prof. and Mrs. Shelton French. Dr. Fletcher returned to Kansas City in November and is now located in the Thompkins building 1509 E. 18th street. Since he has located, he has prescribed not less than seventy-five pair of eye glasses and has treated a number of cases of eye, ear, nose and throat trouble. Although a practicing physician, he will adhere strictly to the this special line of practice. He graduated from the medical college of Howard University in 1912, served as interne in the Old City hospital of Kansas City and began the practice of medicine in 1914. He wishes to have it understood that no one applying to him for treatmest will be turned away, meney or no money. The people of all races can feel that he will give them first-class service.

We trust the physicians will recommend such patients to Dr. Fletcher and not attempt to handle this important line of work themselves. When a specialist is needed, do not be a hog.

St. Louis Argus

The Pan-Missouri Medical Association opened its 12th session Monday morning at the Y. M. C. A., at 9 o'clock, Dr. R. C. Haskell, president, presiding. About fifty dentists, physicians and pharmacists from all sections of the state are attending the sessions. The discussions this year have differed from those of previous years in that altho they have been treated from a scientific point of view, they have been of wide spread interest to the general public.

At the public reception on Monday night the Rev. Father D. R. Clarke, welcomed the visitors to the city. The response was offered by Dr. W. J. Thompkins of Kansas City. Brief talks were made by Dr. C. H. Phillips and Dr. Fletcher.

On Tuesday evening about six hundred attended the public health meeting at Central Baptist Church. Geo. W. Buckner, Executive Secretary of the Uuban League, spoke on health conditions among Negroes in which he sighted many important facts. His address was well received. Dr. G. A. Jordan, Health Commissioner, gave an interesting talk on the scope and work on the health department of the city, during the thirty years in which he was served in this connection But few of the interesting and instructive lantern slides collected by Dr. J. E. Perry were shown on account of a defective lighting apparatus.

At the banquet on Wednesday evening more than one hundred were present and at the ball at Pythian Hall the same night more than two hundred fifty were present. It is the consensus of opinion that it was the prettiest affair given in St. Louis for a long time. The costumes worn by the women were in keeping with the high atmosphere which prevailed thruout the meeting of the Association.

Officers elected were as follows: Dr. Wm. J. Thompkins, Kansas City, President; Dr. Julius Bell, St. Louis, Vice President: Dr. Wm. H. A. Barrett, East St. Louis, Secretary; Dr. Madison of Marshall, Treasurer.

Executive Committee: Dr. W. P. Curtis, Dr. J. T. Caston, Dr. W. B. Christian and Dr. Chas. Humbert.

FALLS CITY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

Louisville Leader
6/10/22

On Tuesday night of this week the Falls City Medical Association met at the residence of Dr. J. A. Bright, 2230 West Chestnut street.

The metting was acllled to order at 9 o'clock at which time Dr. Black offered up a most fervent prayer, asking the divinve guidance of the association.

Next, was the roll call ot which a full quota of the members answered. Then reoprts of the standing and special committees, all of which were adopted.

Dr. Moody opened up a very inteersting subject relative to the status of the Negro physicians of the city which he showed to compare favorably with other cities. This subject was discussed by the following invite dguests: Drs. Whedbee, Scott, Catlan, Editor Warley, Prof. King and Attorney Wright. Each advanced some very helpful ideas which the association shall attempt to put into practice.

The hour having arrived for the paper, Dean Lawson, of State University who is a graduated pharmacist read an excellent paper on the relation between the druggist and physician and dentist. He showed how each was almost wholly depentet upon the other and urged he cooperaion of all and conclusively proved that in union there is strength. The paper was ably discussed by Drs. Bright, Pleasant, Walls and Ballard, after which Dr. Black, the versatile critic, was heard from, who pointed out the short coming sof th eassociation.

At this juncture the famous, fastidious epicureans were served to one of the most elaborate and appetizing suppers that they have had for many a moon. After the sumptuous repast Dr. R. L. Oliver stepped forward with the eloquence a Col. Roscoe Simmons and extended thanks to Mrs. Bright and her lady attendants for the unstinted hospitality shown the association and the members left to sharpen their gastronomical and intellectual appetites for Dr. W. S. Adams on the first Tuesday ight in July.

MEDICAL ASSOCIATION HOLDS IMPORTANT MEETING.

Birmingham Reporter 6/22/22

At a postponed meeting of the Medical Association two very important committees were very carefully appointed, namely: a Committee on Arrangement for the State Medical meeting which is to be held in the city during the month of October and a Cooperative Hospital committee for the purpose of working out plans for a large adequate and up-to-date hospital. It has been in the minds of the Negro Medical Profession for some time that the one imperative need of the community is a hospital, a general hospital that will be a credit to the entire country. Birmingham ought and must create such a hospital. It is a good beginning that the Medical Association should first respond to this demand. The public at large should get solidly behind this movement and see to it that there goes up a large Negro Hospital, a brick building of two or three stories where no one would feel ashamed to go.

MEDICAL MEN ARE TO OPEN SESSION HERE WEDNESDAY

9/30/22 The Birmingham Reporter

The Alabama Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association will open its 26th annual session here Wednesday night, October 4th, with a public program at the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church, Dr. C. L. Fisher, pastor. From all indications there will be a large attendance at the meeting. The public is invited to be present Wednesday night. It will be styled as a public health meeting where addresses will be delivered. The meeting will be presided over by Dr. T. V. McCoo, Eufaula, Ala., who is filling out the unexpired term of Dr. W. E. Sterrs. The following program will be rendered: Invocation, Dr. C. L. Fisher; Welcome address, Rev. E. C. Lawrence; Welcome on behalf of the local association by Dr. W. L. Brown; response by W. F. Clark, of Opelika, Ala. Dr. J. D. Dowling, City and County Health Officer, will deliver the principal address of the evening and he will be introduced by Dr. U. G. Mason. The Peerless Jubilee Singers will furnish music for the occasion and they will have charge of this part of the program Wednesday night. Dr. Welch, State Health Officer, is billed to speak during the session of the Association and according to officers he has consented to be present. The surgical sessions will be held at the Northside Infirmary and the Home Hospital. A reception is planned for Friday night.

Because of the Alabama State Fair opening on the 3rd and special reduced rates having been granted, it is believed that the largest number of doctors, pharmacists and dentists ever assembled at a state meeting will gather in Birmingham and, because of many advanced methods, and a world of information to be gathered fro mthese conferences will stimulate a large number to be present. The profession in Birmingham is planning for a big occasion. Outings and receptions are among the promised pleasures.

HOLDING FINE DOCTORS CONVENTION

Savannah Ga. Tribune

Sessions Will End Friday With A Pleasant Water Outing

The twenty-ninth convention of the Georgia State Association of Physicians, Dentists and Pharmacists which is convening in this city will come to a close tomorrow afternoon with a boat ride to Beach Hammock. The convention has been one of the most successful in the history of the organization though its attendance by out-of-town doctors was somewhat smaller than in former years, the number visiting physicians, dentists and pharmacists being about seventy-five. Of this number Dr. Luella Body, of Forsythe, has the distinction of being the only female member of the body present.

The convention met in its first public session Tuesday night at St. Philip Monumental church and was attendered by a large number. The second public session was held at the First African Baptist church. President C. G. Wiley of the Georgia State College Rev. J. Henry Brown, Daniel Simmons Doctors E. J. Smith, J. W. Jamerson and W. E. Moody extended welcome in behalf of the citizens, while Doctors J. J Creagh of Waycross; E J. Turner of Columbus and Charles H. Foster of Augusta, figured brilliantly in the response. The singing of Miss Alma Davis, Mrs. Amanda Parker, Dr. R. L. Peters and Georgia State College quartet were striking features of the program.

The business session held at St. Paul C. M. E. church was marked with excellent deliberations, enhanced with inspiring speeches touching upon conditions of health among Negroes; pellagra, tuberculosis and nutrition of infants and children, by Dr. Dorothy Bocker of Atlanta, director of the bureau of child hygiene; Doctor T. F. Abercombie, state commissioner of health and Dr. C. E. Koerper, city health officer for Savannah.

The medical clinic at Charity hospital was the best in the history of the association. Several major and minor operations were performed Wednesday, salvarsans administered and medical cases treated by Doctors Verner of Waycross, Williams, Smith and Davis of Savannah and on Thursday three laporotomies were done by Dr. W. A. Harris of this city, Dr. John Burney of Atlanta and Dr. W. E. Gray of Thomasville.

The demonstration of clinical examination as applied to insurance risk by Dr. C. C. Cater of Atlanta, was strikingly scientific and beneficial. The association went on record in the fight against high mortality by urging the colored doctors to co-operate in training an intelligent midwifery.

The dental clinics were held at the office of Dr. J. W. Harris in the Savannah Pharmacy Building. It proved of much interest to the large number of dentists who were present from all sections of the state. Demonstrations in clinical work and oral surgery was performed by Dr. Pughsley of Americus and Dr. W. J. Greene of Augusta and demonstration of administration of nitrous oxide, oxygen gas was observed with much interest. There were several interesting papers rendered and the address of President M. L. Walton, Thursday morning, was one of the features of the day's work. Dr. Hutto of Bainbridge rendered a paper on condition of anaeshtesia The demonstration of the Kromayer lamp in the treatment of pyorrhea was one of the last features of the clinic. At the election of the dental officers Dr. M .L. Walton of Thomasville was returned as president; Dr. Hutto of Bainbridge was elected secretary; Dr. W. J. Green, treasurer; Dr. J. W. Harris, of Savannah, vice president, and Dr. J. W. Jamerson, of Savannah, vice president.

By MORRIS BROWN
(Washington Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—From the standpoint of the sum total of good resulting to humanity, the twenty-seventh annual meeting of the National Medical Association, held here from August 22 to 25, inclusive, surpasses that of any other Negro organization ever held; for its influence will be felt in the tratement of disease and the relief of pain through the adoption of the latest scientific methods by the more than seven hundred physicians, dentists and pharmacists who were in attendance.

Opening Session

The National Medical Association is divided into four sections—medical, surgical, pharmaceutical and dental. The opening meeting was a joint session of these four sections in the auditorium of the Dunbar High School on Tuesday morning, August 22.

It was called to order by Dr. U. J. Daniels, chairman of the local committee. Invocation was then had, and the minutes of the 1921 meeting were read. Dr. C. V. Roman, of Nashville, Tenn., briefly introduced the president, Dr. H. M. Green, of Knoxville, Tenn. Then followed the address of the president, which was a resume of the accomplishments of the National Medical Association since its last meeting. Routine business closed the session.

In the afternoon there were sectional meetings. Dr. C. C. Cater, of Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the medical section; Dr. P. M. Flack, of Louisville, Ky., chairman of the surgical section, and E. F. Harris Ph. G., of Washington, D. C., chairman of the pharmaceutical section, delivered annual addresses before their respective sections.

Public Meeting

In the evening there was a public meeting held at the National Museum of the Smithsonian Institute After invocation by the Rev. F. I. A. Bennett, of Washington, D. C., and music by a quintette, introductory remarks were made by Dr. U. J. Daniels. Welcome addresses were delivered on behalf of the local committee by Dr. M. O. Dumas; on behalf of the United States Public Health Service by Dr. H. S. Cummings, surgeon general of that institution, and on behalf of the District of Columbia by Dr. W. C. Fowler, health officer of the District of Columbia. Dr. C. C. Pierce, assistant surgeon general of the United States Public Health Service, also spoke. Response was made by George W. Bowles, D.D.S., of York, Pa. The introduction of the officers of the National Medical Association by Dr. C. V. Roman closed the program.

The medical and surgical sections held a joint session on Wednesday morning. In the afternoon there were sectional meetings, at which papers were read with general discussions following. Speakers before the medical section included Dr. T. H. Slater, of Atlanta, Ga.; Dr. Charles A. Lewis, of Philadelphia, Pa., and J. B. Darden, of Petersburg, Va. Dr. Louis T. Wright, of New Yok City, spoke before the surgical section.

The dental section discussed different kinds of clinics, teeth and foods. Papers were presented by S. J. Lewis, D.D.S., of Harrisburg, Pa.; Adolphus Walton, D.D.S., of Washington, D. C.; George A. Kyle, D.D.S., of Paterson, N. J.; W. H. Wallace, D.D.S., of Salisbury, N. C.; and W. M. Logan, D.D.S., of Petersburg, Va.

The pharmaceuatical section dealt with problems arising in the profession and the development of pharmacy. Papers were read by Drs. W. H. Vick, of Montclair, N. J.; E. J. LaBranche, of New Orleans, La., and R. D. Keene, of Winston-Salem, N. C.

Public Health Meeting

Under the direction of Dr. Roscoe C. Brown, of the United States Public Health Service, who is the chairman of the general health committee of the National Medical Association, a public health meeting was held in the auditorium of the National Museum on Wednesday evening.

The program consisted of a number of lectures on the prevention of diseases, with which the United States is primarily concerned, and motion pictures illustrating how to keep well were shown.

Perhaps the most interesting speaker of the evening was Dr. William J. Hughes, also of the Public Health Service, who had as his topic "The Fight Against Venereal Diseases."

On Thursday morning there was a joint clinic of the medical and surgical sections. In the afternoon there were sectional meetings, and after the presentation of papers and general discussions, sectional officers were elected.

Election of Officers

At the joint session on Friday, after committee reports were heard, chief of which was the report of the committee on medical education, the election of officers took place. A section of medical inspectors of public schools was also organized at this session, as well as a section on diseases of children.

The association adjourned to meet in St. Louis, Mo., in August 1923.

36TH ANNUAL SESSION IS LARGELY ATTENDED; EMINENT DOCTORS PRESENT

Houston Informer
8-19-22

Special to The Informer.

Galveston, Texas, August 17, 1922.—The Treasure Island of America is host this week to the thirty-sixth annual session of the Lone Star State Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association. The sessions of the medicos are being held in the auditorium of Wesley Tabernacle M. E. Church, the dental at Oleander Hotel and pharmacists at Oleander drug store.

The first public program was executed at Wesley Tabernacle Church Tuesday night, with Dr. Charles C. McClendon acting as master of ceremonies. These exercises were of a very high order and were enjoyed by a capacity house.

The superb choir of Wesley Tabernacle sang several anthems, while vocal numbers were very acceptably rendered by Miss Thelma Speed and W. Henry Hackney, local artists. Rev. R. G. Barbour, pastor Macedonia Baptist Church, pronounced the invocation. Dr. L. M. Wilkins, pioneer physician, extended welcome to the visitors in his characteristic manner. Dr. E. A. Etter welcomed the visitors on behalf of the local association, while Rev. E. W. Kelly extended welcome on behalf of the citizens, making a splendid effort. Those welcome addresses were responded to by Drs. J. W. Morrison of San Antonio for the dentists and A. E. Thompson of Bryan for the medicos, the pharmaceutical representative and substitute both being A. W. O. L.

Mayor Keenan Speaks.

For the first time in twelve years the mayor of a Texas city extended a cordial welcome to the members of the association, when Mayor Charles A. Keenan of Galveston turned over the keys of the city to the colored visitors. In his remarks the mayor praised the race for what it had achieved since slavery and counseled them to "pull together and anything you desire to put over you can do it. I have only recently seen that demonstrated here in the erection of one of the most handsome and imposing church edifices in our city," he further declared. At the conclusion of his speech he was roundly cheered.

Dr. G. M. Munchus, Fort Worth, former president of the association, responded to the hearty welcome extended by the mayor and literally brought down the house in his masterly response, telling the mayor that "if the democrats of Texas cannot settle the senatorial question, let them call another convention and nominate you and we'll help elect you, for your heart is right and you will make us an able senator." When Dr. Munchus had finished his speech Mayor Keenan rushed to him and clasped his hand, while the huge audience rent the auditorium with applause Really it was a thrilling moment and one seldom witnessed in the South.

Mr. Theodore W. Patrick, local mail carrier, who was snatched up on the spur of the moment to introduce the mayor, made a decided hit in his timely introductory remarks and he and the mayor spoke of each other as "my friend," showing what amicable relations exist between the races in Galveston. Mr. Patrick praised the mayor for his recent stand and position in the beach controversy and for his policy of fair play and a square deal to all men, regardless of creed, class or color.

Dr. W. S. Crosby, Fort Worth, president, was introduced by Dr. B. J. Covington of Houston and the chief executive of the association made a brief talk.

Committees Appointed.

The Tuesday afternoon session was very interesting, the first feature of the program being an address by Dr. Joseph F. Paulonis of the United States Public Health Service, with headquarters at Austin, Texas. He brought greetings from General Cummings, head of the department at Washington, D. C., and told of what his department is doing to stimulate the work of the physician, discussing in detail their child hygiene program.

The following committees were appointed:

Munchus, R. A. Ransome, N T. Wallis and Simms and they plan to cop the 1923 session.

President's Annual Message.

The president's annual address was the major feature of the Tuesday afternoon session. the same being a masterpiece. In his address Dr. W. S. Crosby declared:

"Our motto should be service and whatever is necessary. in rendering that service should be the paramount idea ruling our psychic attitude. It is a real battle in which we are engaged—a battle against diseases, the enemies of life. These enemies are deeply entrenched behind centuries o years, an apathetic clientele, massive ignorance and in many instances an unethical attitude on the part of those or rather some of those of our number who should be true steel.

"Our first and greatest task is to educate the community where we labor so that disease in any form will only be at its minimum. To do this we will have to start with the family as the family is the unit of society The family must be taught the value of hygiene and sanitation; must know the danger of common carriers of diseases; must know the danger of infection and what are infectious diseases. They must know that the 'giant twins,' the implacable enemies of life—syphilis and tuberculosis—must be permanently subjected to the point of immunity. They must be taught the danger of filthy habitation and they must be taught that screen doors must be placed between the horse stables and the dining room. Then the municipal officials and the extortionate land owners must be taught the danger of compelling the black citizenry of the municipality to be pushed off, sardine fashion, in the unlighted, unpaved and unsewered portions of the city. They must be taught that when an epidemic breaks out among these people in that location that it will invariably leap the bounds of its origin and spread to the entire group. This is according to the law of communication, which, like the law of Medes and Persians, "altereth not."

He stressed the value of preparedness and urged the physicians to acquire extensive libraries; take special post courses in leading schools of the country. Going further he said:

"We need to value more the power of organization. Where there is organization the attack moves as a unit. Where there is more than one man or woman in a community of our profession, there should be an organization or meeting of some kind where they should meet to talk over the common problems and burdens that at some times try our souls. The life of the race is entrusted to our care, and it is up to us not to fall down on the job.

He urged professional ethics and discountenanced any unethical practices by members of the profession, closed by pleading for high moral standing among the profession, declaring that "immorality is our arch enemy. We must be so morally clean and set the standard so high that no man will fear for his wife, daughter or sister to go behind closed doors with us. Immorality, like the leprosy of Palestine, renders one unclean and unfit to live in civilized society. It dwarfs the soul, blights the ambition, staggers the powers of the intellect and unseats reason, thus leaving us a shadow of our former selves to be an object of shame and pity."

He closed by paying a tribute to the departed members of the profession.

Secretary Hammond's Report.

The annual report of Dr. William Hammond of Bryan, secretary of the association, revealed the financial condition of the organization as follows: Cash brought forward July 21, 1921, $112.78; collected from members, $15.00; total in treasury, $127.78; total amount drawn from treasury $121.45; total amount remaining in treasury from 1921 session, $6.33; total expense of secretary's office, $167.15; by cash received treasurer, $121.45; balance due secretary (money advanced) $45.70.

Several valuable papers have been read on medical and dental subjects, while clinics were held at the colored department of the John Sealy Hospital Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

Wednesday afternoon the visitors were given an auto ride over the city, while a public reception was tendered them at Cotton Jammers' Park at night.

Thursday morning, 5 to 7 o'clock, there was a fishing party at North jetties, while in the afternoon many enjoyed a boatride on the beautiful Galvez.

The local committee has put it over in grand style and is composed of the following: Drs. Charles C. McClendon R. T. Stanton, I. L. Jones, E. A Etter, Mary Moore, M. J. Mosley, L. M. Wilkins, R. H Stanton. Walter Davis and R. B. Stanton.

Sessions to be Held at Meharry Auditorium Monday and Tuesday, January 23rd and 24th, 1922

Continued interest in the coming meeting of the Commission on Medical Educaton is being manfested by the promoters here in Nashville. In an interview this week, Dr. J. E. Lester, the Secretary of the organization stated that every indication pointed o a much larger atendance than was at first promised. He stated that every week he was receiving more acceptances from Colleges, due to the fact that he had made a personal to more than fifty educational institutions in the interest of the work of the Commission.

He said that they were appointed at the National Medical Association five years ago when they met in Philadelphia, and while the work seemed to progress very slowly in the beginning it had continued to grow until last fall the school presidents began to realize the importance of the work of the Commission.

At the coming meeting which is to be held in the Meharry Auditorum, Monday and Tuesday, January 3rd and 24th, assurances have been given out that nineteen schools and colleges had responded and that they would be here with their representatives.

The following are some of the schools and prominent persons that have been heard from:

The work of the organiation cazn best be understood by the statement from Dr. Lester that he made to those schools and individuals co-operating with the movement, when he said:

"In the first place, it is a fundamental principle with us that we should set for Negro colleges standards not less rigid and high than are set for white schools. The primary business of all of those conferring upon this special issue of medical education should be to determine with precision what are the best standards of the country, regardless of race.

"In this connection, if there are any who are planning to present standards of admission to medical colleges, or who have a statement of a proposed pre-medical course, we believe that those standards and statements should be put i writing and sent a an early dae to all the persons invited to the January meet- parison of the proposal with the re- ing. This will allow a careful comquirements already in existence in catalogues and in resolutions of medisal associations.

"When the requirements for admission to college have been established by the medical colleges themselves, in conformity with the requirements of medical associations and the state laws of the country, conference of those who are engaged in preparing studnts for admission to medical schools might well be held o make clear to those schools the precise and entire meaning of the standards and regulations.

"In the interest of a truly standardiezd, and not sub-standardized pre-medical education, it is imperative that the valuation of premedical schools shall be done by the most impartial experts—experts who shall insist that at no point shall Negro medical education consent to lower standards than he best. I is imperative that there shall not be even suspicion in any quarter that personal of institutional ambition has aected the ratings given."

Another communication has also been issued by the Commission on Medical Education showing the rating of colleges, included in Class 1, Class 2 and Class E, which rating was formulated or named by Hon. Thomas Jessie Jones. A circular on this was sent out under date o November 19th, containing the following:

"The Commission on Medical Education of the National Medical Association recogniezs the urgent need of a larger list of recognized literary colleges for the youth than now in use. The three classes of colleges named by the Hon. Thomas Jesse Jones are as follows:

Class I. Howard, Fisk and Lincoln Universities.

Class II. Morehouse, Atlanta University, Knoxville, Shaw, Talladega, Va. Union, Bishop, Benedict and Tougaloo.

If science be the handmaid of progress, then this race is safe in the kind and variety of work being done and reported by its medical men and women.

The twenty-seventh annual session of The National Medical Association opened with a joint session by the medical, surgical pharmaceutical and dental sections Tuesday morning, at the Dunbar High School. Dr. H. M. Green, president of the Association, and a member of the profession in Knoxville, Tenn., made his annual address indicating what was being done to lessen disease among colored people. He cited the need of small hospitals for serious and difficult cases, and laid great stress upon the enthusiasms to be gathered from alumni reunions Dr. Green asked the aid of the Negro press in advancing the plans of the N. M. A., and paid it a high tribute for its services in behalf of race progress.

The Executive committee of the Louisville meeting of the association made an exhaustive report of that session, covering every phase of the work and every activity of the association.

This report was followed by a presentation of the vice presidents who made reports and paid the fees for the several organizations.

Mrs. Mary Talbert was introduced and received a rousing ovation when she invited the N. M. A. to pay its homage to the shrine of Frederick Douglass which the women of the race had recently dedicated.

She spread the news of the 90 days of [illegible] against lynching to be made [illegible] by the Lynching Crusaders, [illegible] women of all races combined to run [illegible] months of September, October and November.

Bryant of Birmingham, Ala., and a lively general discussion by most of the men in the section.

The Pharmaceutical section was headed by Dr. E. F. Harris, but his place was gracefully and ably filled by Dr. Julia H. C. Coleman, the manufacturing chemist of Washington, who presented Dr. LaBranche, who reviewed the general phases of the work of the pharmacist and advised that each must heroically meet and attack the peculiar conditions in his own section of the country.

The subsequent sessions, both joint and separate, were marked by the same scientific interest.

Friday, the last day of the most interesting and profitable of the 27 sessions of this association, was marked by the general consideration of the business of the sessions and such new business as is necessary to keep the executive committee employed during the year.

The whole event closed with the most elaborate and enjoyable reception for visiting members and their families and friends in a monster ball at Convention Hall.
